EAS The Dual Career Network

"The main aim is to support European athletes in combining high performance sport and education"

The Dual Career System within European Countries has been proven successful through the increasing number of medals achieved during London 2012

EAS strives to drive this achievement further!

ABOUT

The European Athlete as Student (EAS) network has been founded in 2004 with support of EU Commission during The European Year of Education Through Sport (EYES)

It is for universities, sports schools and other educational establishments interested in high performance sport as well as sports clubs and federations which are willing to help their athletes in their studies. The main aim of the EAS -network is to support European athletes in combining high performance sport and education.

The EAS-Network therefore has as its ambition:

- To find and unite partners who are involved in high performance sport and education
- To identify and exchange the best practices between countries and institutions
- To present suggestions to the decision makers about the conditions for improving high performance sport and education
- To act as a link between educational institutions and sports organisations
- To develop research projects in the field of sport and education.

The means to achieve the EAS-network objectives are among others:

- An annual conference
- A web-site with a web-forum
- To keep a registry and to inform our members about the best practices
- To help our members in promoting bilateral cooperation and thereby promote exchange between institutions, coaches teachers and students
- To participate in discussions and debates on sport on local, national and European level

Member Benefits

The EAS members benefit from a number of factors which are also useful in the development of the Dual Career Pathway.

- An annual EAS conference with reduced conference fee
- Essential information about ongoing best practice
- Sharing of expertise
- Professional partnerships between institutions, coaches, teachers and students throughout nations
- European Networking
- Discussions and debates around sport on a local, national and European level
- Opportunities to utilise EAS events to promote your institution within the network
- This web site to act as member hub
